Legislators To Examine Nomination

(Special to The Republican)
WASHINGTON, D. C. — Sen.

Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn., is expected to take part in Senate Foreign Relations deliberations on the nomination of Dr. Herbert Scoville, Jr. of Taconic, Litchfield County, to become assistant director of the U. S. Arms Control and Disarmament Agency at $20,000 a year.

A native of New York City, Dr. Scoville received his BS from Yale in 1937 and from 1937 to 1939 studied at Cambridge University, England. He received his doctorate from Rochester University, N. Y. in 1942 and he remained there as a research assistant until 1944.

In 1945 he joined the National Research Council in Washington and from 1946 to 1948 served as a senior scientist with the Atomic Energy Commission. From 1948 to 1955 he was technical director of the Armed Forces Special Weapons Institute in the Defense Department.

He was named deputy director of the Central Intelligence Agency in 1955 and served in that capacity until last August when he became a consultant to the Presidential Science Advisory Committee.
